

Field Notes on Moss Growth Beside the Old Mill Stream

Harriet Quillfeather

These notes record weekly observations of moss cover on six stones beside the mill stream between March and October. They were kept for a village history society and have not been published anywhere; no registrar holds a record of them, so an identifier lookup must fail and a title search must not return a confident match.